The Vice of Drinking Ice Water.

The free ice water tank in the City Hall Park excites the ire of the Re-tailer, the champion of the beer and wine interests, and it says: "The vice of drinking ice water is a growing one. Its devotees are numbered by hundreds of thousands, and they carry on their excesses boldly and in the most public and shameless manner. The man or woman whom this demon of drink has marked for its prey is a familiar object, known at once from the marks of dissipation. The ice water drinker is thin, worn, weak and unenergetic. Constant colic has bent his from the first of the head energetic. Constant colic has bent his frame, the fires of the body are extinguished; their lights are fied from his eyes, and their glow is gone from his skin. He is dyspeptic. He has blue lips and chalk-colored cheeks. He is melancholy and spiritless, and he will tell you that eating has no longer any pleasures for him. Give he will tell you that eating has no longer any pleasures for him. Give him the dipper, and you may have your laughter and your good fellowship—only give him the dipper. For that he will sacrifice all. He must go on yielding more and more to the frightful habit he has formed, and finally dying the death of an ice water finally dying the death of an ice water drunkard." The Smallest Baby on Record.

The Cleveland Herald reporter has interviewed the father of a phenomenally small baby, who said: "A week ago yesterday a girl baby was born into the family, and is perhaps, the most remarkable child on record, in asmuch that its weight is, at the age of a week, only three-fourths of a pound, and its length less than six inches. It is a perfectly formed child, and aside from a tendency to sleep a great deal of the time, acts like any other child of the same age."

The reporter was soon permitted to see the prodigy and says: "Wrapped up in cotton was the tiniest wee parcel of humanity imaginable. Its head was no larger than a goodsized plum, its arms about the size of a lead pencil, its feet half an inch in length and its whole body so small that it might lie easily in a man's hand. The child seemed perfectly healthy and liable to live to a ripe old age. A strange fact in the case is that the parents have had five other children, all of whom are large and healthy and were so at birth."

Chinese Food.

Boiled rice is the basis of Chinese food and the symbol of it, so to speak; for a waiter when asking you whether you are going to take a meal, will ask you if you will have some rice, and "Have you eaten your rice?" is equiv-alent to "How do you do?" In the morth of China wheat and canary seed are also consumed in great quantities, boiled and made into small rolls. Cakes made of boiled wheat are held in high esteem, and these, with a little fish or some vegetables, will enable a Chinaman to make an excellent dinner. A Chinaman in comfortable circumstances takes, in addition to his breakfast, dinner and supper, various the kuo-tas leading up to the morning meal, the kuo-tsong to the mid-day, and tienchen to the evening meal.

Sworn to before me hank Parish, this 8th day of July, 1880. Glerk of Washoe County. DEMOCRATIC DEFENSE OF GAR-

FIRLD.

From the New York World, (Dem.) October 10, 1873,

Senator Thurman lets up on General Garfield, of Ohio, in this amiable way "Oakes Ames swore that Garfield got ten shares, and Garfield says that he did not do anything of the kind. There was a good deal of talk, but no proof against him, and I am compelled to say that Garfield got out of it better than anyone else, and, on the whole, there was not sufficient evidence to fasted the corruption at his door." After considering all the testimony, on the whole we concur in this view of General Garfield's connection with the Credit Mobilier.

THE GREAT AMERICAN FASTER.

The New York papers every day contain long accounts of the progress of Dr. Tanner's fast. The fast grows in interest day by day. It seems almost incredible that a man can go so long without food and live. Yet the city papers throw no doubt upon the good falth of Dr. Tanner. And they are very quick in New York to detect and expose any kind of imposition.

There are some very peculiar fea-tures of the Dr.'s prolonged abstinence from food. On his seventeenth and eighteenth days, for instance, he gained rapidly in weight. The scoffers sa'd he must have begun to eat heartily. But the watchers explained it by the fact that on those days the faster drank a great deal of water. which he had previously used very sparingly. It is curious that a man can gain flesh by drinking water, yet to him.

A nother curious fact about Dr. Tanner's long fast is the preservation of his strength. On his eighteenth day to prove what he had said. He showscientific tests showed him to be in a ed that the grand doctrine of the Demcondition of perfect health and strong ocratic gapostle, Breckenridge, in er than the majerity of his watchers. 1860, was that slavery had a right to It is stated that the most interesting feature of the fast to those who doctrine is dead. The Democrats in have been familiar with it from the 1864 held that the war to save the first, is the curious letters that are daily received by Dr. Tanner. The great sleeping man of Troy, N. Y.,

TROY, July 15, 1880. DR. TANNER; If you should be successful in your torty days' fast I hereby challenge you (and will start one day ahead of you) to fast for any amount; from $100 to $1,000. I am known here as the Great Sleeper. I have often slept twenty-four days without moving. Yours, &c.

GEORGE ROARKE,

Corner Church and State street, Troy,

The next letter was from a New York pastor. After reading it Dr. Tanner short team of pity for the writer. It was as follows: New YORK, July 14, 1880. NEW YORK, July 14, 1880.

DEAE DOCTOR: I am desirous of asking you a question, but not for a moment, I assure you, in reference to your forty days' fast, which I consider but a secondary thing, though the world is wondering at it, but the question is in reference to your spiritual fast.

Doctor, did you over out of the Bread of Life! If not, are you aware that you have gone through a longer at than forty days!

You have fasted a fast that will gone

You have fasted a fast that will gnaw you for elernity. Doctor, do, I be seech you, try—as you have fasted now those years, you must be hungry—try the qualities of the Bread of Life, If you eat you shall live forever. (See St. John, ch 6, v. 35.) Would not this for you, he a greater thing to have to proclaim to the world than a forty day. Takk A man living forever! Oh, think of it! Jesus is that Bread of Life, and He is ready to feed you if your heart does not attle rebel against Him.

Dear Bostor, you had better try the experiment in this may now. It

it. Several unsuccessful attempts were made to force food down her, but it was always thrown up entirely. She either could not or would not keep it down. She rinsed her mouth with water occasionally, kept her bed most of the time, was in excellent health, and at the end of forty days sent for her father to eat dinner her. She ate heartily from the first The over-stuffed stomachs in this country are filling more graveyards than the inebriate's cup. Food and drink should never be taken for the gustatory pleasure which they impart, but simply to maintain life and pre-serve health and strength. Taken in medical doses, as the system requires them, without this methodical mad-ness, this systematic suicide called living, and we could add more than one ecade to a life of almost perfect ealth. Keep your brain cool and quie Keep your floor well sprinkled with water, and keep all unfavorable bodily symptoms in complete subjection to an iron will, and success is yours.

man at reet remembers a circumstance which occurred fifty years ago, going to show that Dr. Tanner may yet accomplish his task. A ship, owned by John Patterson of St. John, N. B., which sailed from the port of Campo Bello, in that province, was dismasted and water-logged. All the crew were lost but one man, who was rescued by a passing vessel after being without food or water for thirty-one days.

A PARTY OF EXPLODED IDEAS

In the course of a speech in the House of Representatives, during the session of 1876, James A. Garfield said:

"I affirm, and I believe I do not misrepresent the great Democratic party, that in the last sixteen years they have not advanced one great nat-ional idea that is not to day exploded and as dead as Julius Cæsar, and if any Democrat here will rise and name great national doctrine his party has advanced within that time, that is now alive and believed in, I will yield

Garfield was right and the Demo crats know it, for no one of them rose to reply. The speaker then went on go where the Constitution goes. That Union was a failure. In 1868 they declared the Constitutional admendments revolutionary and void. What Democrat holds to these ideas to-day?

The following description of Ger eral Garfield is written by 'Gath' George Alfred Townsend), and is Another case of remarkable lasting was reported in a letter from a Missouri physician:

WARRENSBURG, Mo., July 11, '80.

Dr. Tanner,—Dear Sir: We have a lady living six miles from this town that has fasted forty days, eating and drinking nothing in that time. She was not closely watched continually, but no one acquainted with her deabts it. Several unsuccessful attempts blue eyes, military face, erect figure er, and shoulders, large back and thighs, I. and broad chest, and evidently bred in the country on a farm. His large mouth is full of strong teeth; his nose, chin and brows are strongly pro nounced. A large brair, with toom for play of thought and long application, rises high above his clear, discerning, enjoying eyes. Endowed with a warm temperament, copious expression, large, wide-seeing facul-ties, and superabundant health, he could study all night and teach or lecture all day, and it was a providence that his neighbors discovered that he was too much of a man to conceal in the pulpit, where his do conceal in the pulpit, where his do-cility and reverence had almost taken him. They sent him to the State Legislature, where he was when the war broke out, and he immediately went to the field, where his courage and painstaking parts, and love of open-air occupation, and perfect free-dom from self-assertion, made him the delight of Rosecraps and George H. Thomas successively. He would go about any work they asked of him, was unselfish and enthusiastic, and had steady, temperate habits; and his had steady, temperate habits; and his large brain and his reverence made everything novel to him. There is an entire absence of nonchalance or worldliness in his nature. He is worldliness in his nature. He is never indifferent, never vindictive. A base action, or ingratitude, or cruelty, may make him sad, but does not pro-voke retaliation, nor alter that faith in men or providence which is a part of his sound stomach and athletic head. Garfield is

The term 'public servant' especially applies to him. The people of his district, who are quick to punish venality or defec-tion, heard him in his defense in 1873, and kept him in Congress and held up his hands, and hence he is by their unswerving support for 25 years, a can-didate for President and a national character. Since John Quincy Adams no President has had Garfield's schol-arship. He is the ablest public speak-er in the country, and the most serious er in the country, and the most serious and instructive man on the stump. His instincts, liberal and right; his courtesy, noticeable in our politics; his aims, ingenuous, and his piety comes by nature. He leads a farmer's life, all the recess of Congress working like a field-hand, and restoring his mind by resting it. If electing his mind by resting it. If elected, he will give a tone of culture and intelligence to the Executive office it has never yet had, while he has no pedantry in his composition, and no conceit whatever. election, she becomes an important, factor in the social element at Washington, I take with approval the description of her given by that very scription of her given by that very clever and womanly woman, Mary Clemmer Ames, Writing of Mrs. Garfield, she says: 'I have seen many women come to the surface of capi tolian life out of obscurity, and go back into obscurity again; have seen hundreds of so-called 'leaders of society' shrivel and go out in the scerching flame of fashion; while I have followed with a tender heart this woman, the wife of a famous man —a woman whom nobody called a leader.' She, meanwhile, has not been lifted off her feet, as many wo-men are, by her husband's rising formen are, by her austand's rising for-tunes; no spreading forth in style of dress or living; no airs. And in Washington, in official life, that means everything—indicative of character. She has moved on in the tranquil She has moved on in the tranquil tenor of her unobtrusive way, in a life of absolute devotion to her duty, not forgetting the demands of her position or neglecting her friends, yet making it her first charge to bless her home, to teach her children, to fit her boys for college, to be the equal and friend, as well as the honered wife, of her husband. Gentle, patient, unobtrusive almost to timidity, wise in speech and action, keenly intelligent, liberally educated, conscientiously devoted to everything good—this is she who will perpetuste the loring, consecrated life that to-day abides in the White House, if as its mistress she enters it."

A Contradiction from Dana.

From the New York Sun, July 16. We find the following story in the State, a journal of Richmond, Vir-inia:

hat during the recent Seawanhaka lisaster she was standing by Charles L. Dana of the Sun, and in her exdisaster she was standing by Charles A. Dana of the Sun, and in her extreme peril she said: "Please, Mr. Dana, can't I go with you when you jump over?" "Every one for himself," she says was his brutal answer.

We inform the State that it has been imposed upon. The story is false. It is a lie, Mr. Dana said no such words to Miss Ward or to any one else.

FEMININE SMOKERS.

From the Boston Courle NEW YORK, July 5 .- That a great the fragrant cigarette is an open sec-ret. Indeed, the custom has become so universal that it can hardly be cal-sed a secret at all.

It used to be very common for girls, when a party of them met in some quiet place, where there were no men, to take a few puffs of a cigarette for the sake of the forbidden fruit sensation. But now they are more bold about it, and I will venture to say that the maintain of New York girls that the majority of New York girls smoke cigarettes. A number of gen-tlemen have told me that their wives would take a cigarette after dinner when they took their cigar, and they approved of the custom. I know one lady, one of the highest born in the land, who was an inveterate smoker until forbidden by her physician.

Spanish, Russian, and Polish ladies

moke almost as much as the men, and o one thinks the worse of them for it. no one thinks the worse of them for it. I should not like to see ladies smoke cigars or pipes, but I can see no impropriety in an occasional cigarette. There is a great difference in the way they are smoked. I have seen some women smoke a cigarette so daintily that it was a beautiful sight to watch the delicate smoke auritus up from he delicate smoke curling up from their rosy lips, while others puff away in such a masculine way that one be comes thoroughly disgusted. I have been at a number of dinner parties where cigarettes were passed around to the ladies when cigars were brought to the gentlemen. I am talking about the best people now, not Bohemians. If the waiters of Delmonico's or the Brunawick would tell you, you would be surprised at the number of private parties where eigarettes are smoked by adies. If you ask a lady plump of whether she smokes, she will evade the question until she has sounded your opinions, and if they are favora-ble she will confess in the affirmative I have heard some people say that they would rather see a woman drink than smoke; that they thought the latter more mesculine. I do not think so, and the effects of cigarettes are certainly more innocent than of champagne or whiskey.

Deputy Sheriff Burrell informs the Plumas National that the grasshoppers are swarming on the ranches of Supervisor McLear and H. Neseman, Supervisor McLear and H. They hatched in the immediate vicinity of the ranches named, from a stock of eggs laid by a swarm that came over the ridge from Sierra valley last fall. The National says: We are afraid that they will lay waste all of our mountain country before they get through, but they may conclude to emigrate at any time, and in that, there is some chance for hope. ance for hope.

A Fascinating Book.

In this age of "many books of many kinds," the community is laid under a debt of obligation by a publisher who brings out a work that compresses into a thousand pages a record of the wenders, curiosities and phenomena wenders, curiosities and phenomena of nature, art, science and literature of ancient and modern times, and of the old and new worlds. This, the well-known book firm of A. L. Bancroft & Co., with their usual liberality and enterprise, through their well-organized subscription department, have done in the issuance of the above

W. P. GABY, Secretary. Patient Creditors Again Put their Head

There was a small attendance at the called meeting of the creditors of the Reno Savings Bank last evening in Reform Club hall. The topic for discussion was concerning the appoint ment of a receiver. Haydon and Bowman expressed the opinion that the District Court had the power to appoint a receiver. A resolution was passed to continue the present committee in power, with instructions to act as their judgment might determine would be for the best interests of the creditors.

Subsequently it was resolved that the committee be instructed to obtain an assignment of all the assets of the bank to D. B. Boyd or some other person whom they might choose Failing to get such an assignmen they were instructed to begin suit at

Beck moved that the chair appoint committee of three to solicit from the creditors means to begin legal pro-ceedings, in case the bank should refuse to execute an assignment. The Chair decided to withhold the appointment of such a committee until it proposed to do about making an assignment. The motion passed.

The meeting then adjourned to meet again at the cali of the committee.

The Stores will be Closed Next Sunday A GAZETTE reporter called at nearly all the stores in town to secertain if they would all be closed next Sunday in obedience to the ordinance recently passed by the Town Trustees. With three exceptions all stated that they intended to close. Manning & Berry have not wet decided what to do. Brookins is also undecided. Myers, the proprietor of the cigar stand on Virginia street, says he will keep open. He thinks the ordinance which closes the cigar stands and allows the saloons to keep open is unfair and illegal. Therefore he will not obey it The saloons compete with him in the cigar business. The storekeepers the exceptions allowed by the ordi-

Moonlit Riverside Recreation

The moonlight dance at the Riverside Grounds last evening was a little warm with the mercury at 85. The disadvagtage of excessive warmth attended it, but then there was unlimited moonlight, and lots of flowing river. The gentlemen vied with the mosquitoes in attentions to the ladies, and the mosquitoes were the most successful, as they invariably carried their point. There was no end of shimmer and glimmer and shivend of shimmer and glimmer and shiver and quiver, the surroundings being as favorable for the growth of sentiment as of willows. Some dasced, while others firted under the trees or displayed their skill at croquet. The party broke up about midnight after spending a very pleasant evening.

Concert and Dance at Huffaker's A club of Reno amateurs will give public concert in Everett's hall at Huffaker's next Thursday evening. The concert will be followed by a dance. Admittance to the concert will be twenty-five cents. The light an expense of fifty cents—feminine toes free. The proceeds will be applied to swell the organ fund of the school house. It is a pleasant drive out to Huffaker's, and as the entertain-ment is expected to be good, a good attendance will probably be had.

The Salary System in Humboldt

Says the Silner State: Next year all the Humboldt county officers will receive regular salaries instead of fees, as at present, and the fees collected by them are to be paid into the county treasury, monthly. This new arrangement may save the county sev-eral thousand dollars a year, and re-sult in reducing the county indebted-ness, but that remains to be seen.
